

We support you in ensuring your ability to deliver.

You can rely on us. Especially in these times it is more important than ever to be able to rely on each other. You can count on us as your strong partner:

We support you in your supply security.

With Marbach as your partner you are very well positioned. Even when it comes to the reliability of supplying you. Because we have increased the stock levels of our most important articles and raw materials group-wide and adapted them to the current situation. Thus, the supply of raw materials and supplies is currently ensured. Our multi-supplier strategy gives us the advantage that we can rely on several certified suppliers for each product. This ensures that we can continue to supply you as our customer with tools of the usual Marbach quality and reliability.

At 20 locations worldwide.

We are there for you at 20 locations worldwide and are globally networked. In the current situation this is more important than ever and a great advantage for you. This makes us extremely flexible. And if necessary, we can move your order, CAD and tool production to other production sites quickly and easily. For maximum delivery reliability.

Special measures for the health of our employees.

We have also introduced far-reaching preventive measures for our employees in the areas of hygiene and communication. A newly established task force on the subject of Corona is constantly informed about news and takes any necessary measures immediately. In addition to various hygiene measures, we refrain from business trips and visits to customers. In our production, special regulations have been established and special training courses have been held to ensure that employees are protected in the best possible way. We have also completely converted our internal communications to digital and introduced intelligent shift models to protect our employees. All these measures not only ensure the health of our employees, but also that you will continue to receive your tools quickly and safely in the future.

Worldwide network for smooth communication.

Our worldwide group-internal networking makes it possible for us to access your order-related tool data from any location. [Your consent assumed]. This means that your existing tool data is available everywhere. Another advantage for you: Thanks to our perfectly functioning IT world, we are available for you around the clock. Numerous employees - also from the key areas of customer service and CAD - work in the home office and from there ensure that business operations continue smoothly.

Marbach. For maximum delivery reliability.

With Marbach you have the maximum security that you will have high-performance tools for the production of your packaging in the future.
